Purpose
The Community College System of New Hampshire (CCSNH) seeks an integrated web development solution that will address the unique needs of its seven community colleges. The desired solution will include website redesign as more fully described below, recommendations for efficient and secure hosting and ongoing development work, and a flexible, scalable and user-friendly Content Management System in order to streamline maintenance and support while enabling each college to have a unique, responsive website that adapts to its individual needs. We have a strong preference for supported, industry standard content management frameworks.

NH’s seven community colleges are part of a system (CCSNH), but are also individual colleges with their own brand, identity, distinct campus features, array of offerings, and regional attributes. There is an overall community college value proposition that all seven share, which includes affordability, transfer, education aligned to careers, local convenience, and a supportive college environment.

There are some “system-wide” branding elements that all the colleges connect to, for example using “Guided Pathways/Academic Focus Area” graphics to organize their degree and certificate programs, and third-party tools such as Career Coach that students can use to assess career interests and pathways.

The seven NH community college websites are linked to https://ccsnh.edu, where visitors can access greatbay.edu, lrc.edu, mcnh.edu, nashuacc.edu, nhti.edu, rivervalley.edu and wmcc.edu. (ccsnh.edu is presently being redesigned as a Wordpress site; it is expected that redesign will be complete before the commencement of the work undertaken pursuant to this RFP). Currently, five websites (Great Bay, Lakes Region, NHTI, River Valley and White Mountains) use Drupal CMS and are hosted by Pantheon. Manchester uses the Joomla CMS and is hosted in a local datacenter managed by the central office. Nashua uses its own hosting solution.

The five Drupal sites are looking to redesign and update their sites before December 2019. Manchester and Nashua have updated their sites more recently and would be looking to possibly use whatever framework is developed for the five sites at a later date. Goals of the redesign include streamlining website services to CCSNH while allowing for individual college brands to remain evident through each college’s site design. Consistency in site-mapping is desirable both for a consistent user journey across the college sites and for economies of scale in development and design, although each site must showcase the college as a distinctive entity.

It is also anticipated that CCSNH will implement a CRM within the next year, likely deployed within an initial group of college websites followed by a second group of sites.

Scope of Work
CCSNH seeks recommendations and implementation of website redesigns that will attract both traditional (recent high school grads), as well as non-traditional (older, mid-career job changers) prospective students. Elements will include, but not necessarily be limited to:
- Creative planning
- Design and development of responsive websites with user-friendly navigation and intuitive flow, with mobile and phone based versions/layouts a requirement
- Account Service
- Hosting recommendations (as noted above, most of the CCSNH sites are hosted on Pantheon; other hosting proposals would likely not be considered unless a strong case is made in favor of the proposed solution’s cost, ease of use and reliability)
- Presentations
- Measurement
- Options for user training
- Flexible website development and maintenance packages responsive to each college’s in-house capacity

General Expectations
CCSNH seeks an agency with the capacity to recommend and implement an efficient, creative solution to modernize NH community college websites.

The selected agency shall partner with CCSNH to develop a reimagined web presence for each college that attracts, engages, and retains traditional and adult students, as well as other site visitors. We expect to build new sites that take into account best practices in website content, navigation and design while maintaining the individual colleges’ current brand identity. The sites shall clearly market the colleges’ available programs and services. The sites shall incorporate easy, self-directed selection options for academic programs and offerings aligned with CCSNH’s Academic Focus Areas model, and use intuitive decision making tools.

The selected agency will demonstrate tactical understanding of website design, development and mobile-first user experience.

The selected agency will demonstrate highly responsive and organized account service and management capabilities.

The selected agency will be able to provide college-level user training after the redesign to meet the various needs of each college’s level of staffing resources, understanding that daily content updates will be the responsibility of college personnel.
The selected agency will have experience working with institutions of higher education, and will be familiar with enrollment marketing, the NH community college mission, audience, and general student body characteristics, and will not make extensive research a significant cost element of its proposal. In addition to general sources of information, interested vendors are encouraged to review CCSNH and college websites and annual report at http://online.fliphtml5.com/ndtg/uqqy/.
